

ly, holy, holy is ^y Lord of hostes: the whole worlde is ful of his glorie.

And the lintels of the dore chekes ^k moued at the voyce of him that cryed, and the house was filled with smoke.

Then I said, ¹ Wo is me: for I am vndone, because I am a man of polluted lippes, and I dwell in the middes of a people of polluted lippes: for mine eyes haue sene the King and Lord of hostes.

Then fiewe one of the Seraphims vnto me with an hote cole in his hand, which he had take from the ^m altar with the tongs:

And he touched my mouth, & said, Lo, this hath touched thy lippes, and thine iniquitie shalbe taken away, and thy ⁿ sinne shalbe purged.

Also I heard the voyce of the Lord, saying, Whome shal I send? and who shal go for vs? Then I sayd, Here am I, send me.

And he said, Go, and say vnto this people, ^o Ye shal heare in dede, but ye shal not vnderstand: ye shal plainly se, & not perceiue.

Make the heart of this people fat, make their eares heauie, and shut their eyes, lest they se with their eyes, & heare with their eares, and vnderstand with their hearts, and conuert, and he heale them.

Then said I, Lord, ^p how long? And he answered, Vntil the cities be wasted without inhabitant, and the houses without man, and the land be vterly desolate,

And the Lord haue remoued men farre away, and ^{there be} a great desolation in the middes of the land.

But yet in it ^{shalbe} a tenth, and shal returne, and shalbe eaten vp as an elme ^r or as an oke, which haue a substance in them, when they cast ^{their leaues}: so the holie sede shalbe the substance thereof.

CHAP. VII.

1 Ierusalem besieged. 4 Isaiáh comforteth the King. 14 Christ is promised.

And in the dayes of ^{} Aház, the sonne of Iothám, the sonne of Vzziah King of Iudáh, Rezin the King of ^{} Arám ^a came vp, and Pekáh the sonne of Remaliah King of Israël, to Ierusalem to fight against it, but he colde not ouercome it.

And it was tolde the house of ^b Dauid, saying, Arám is ioyned with ^c Ephraim: therefore his heart was ^d moued, and the heart of his people, as the trees of the forest are moued by the winde.

Then said the Lord vnto Isaiáh, Go forthe now to mete Aház (thou and ^e Shear-iashub thy sonne) at the end of the conduit of the vpper poole, in the path of the fullers field,

And say vnto him, Take hede, & be still: feare not, nether be faint hearted for the two tailes of these smoking ^f fyrebrandes, for the furious wrath of Rezin and of Arám, and of Remaliahs sonne:

Because Arám hath taken wicked counsel against thee, & Ephraim, & Remaliahs sonne, saying,

Let vs go vp against Iudáh, & let vs wake them vp, and make a bieche therein for vs, and set a King in the middes thereof: ^{euene} the sonne of ^s Tabeál.

Thus saith the Lord God, It shal not stand, nether shal it be.

For the head of Arám is Damascus, and the head of Damascus is Rezin: and with in fye & ^h threscore yere, Ephraim shalbe destroyed from being a people.

And the head of Ephraim is Samaria, and the head of Samaria is Remaliahs sonne. If ye beleue not, surely ye shal not be establi shed.

And the Lord spake againe vnto Aház, saying,

Aske ⁱ a signe for thee of the Lord thy God: aske it, ^{ether} in the depth or in the height aboue.

But Aház said, I wil not aske, nether wil I ^k tempt the Lord.

Then he said, Heare you now, ^o house of Dauid, Is it a smale thing for you to grieue ⁱ men, that ye wil also grieue my God?

Therefore the Lord ^m him self wil giue you a signe. Beholde, the virgine shal conceiue and beare a sonne, and she shal call his name ⁱ Immánu-él.

Butter and honie shal he eat, til he haue knowledge to refuse the euil, & to chuse the good.

For a fore ^y ^o childe shal haue knowledge to eschewe the euil, and to chuse the good, the land, that thou abhorrest, shalbe forsaken of bothe her Kings.

The Lord shal bring vpon thee, and vpon thy people, and vpon thy fathers house (the daies that haue not come fró the daie that ^p Ephraim departed from Iudáh) ^{euene} the King of ^s Asshúr.

And in that day shal the Lord hisse for the ^r flie that is at the vtermoste parte of the floods of Egypt, & for the bee which is in the land of Asshúr,

And thei shal come and shal light all in the desolate valleis, and in the holes of the rockes, and vpon all thornie places, and be nourished as other men, vntil ^f age of discretiō. ^o Not meanig Christ, but anie childe: for before a childe can come to the yeres of discretiō, the Kings of Samaria and Syria shal be destroyed. ^p Since the time that the twelve tribes rebelled vnder Roboám. ^q In whome thou hast put thy trust. ^r Meaning, the Egyptians: for by reason the countrie is hote and moiste, it is ful of flies, as Agyptia is ful of bees.

That is to say, The rest shal returne: & name Isaiáh gaue his sonne, to signifie, that ^f rest of the people shulde returne out of their captiuitie.

Which haue but a litle smoke and shal quickly be quenched.

Which was an Israelite & as semeth, enemie to the house of Dauid. Counting from ^y fye & twentieth yere of ^y reigne of Vzziah, at what time Amos prophesied this thing, and now Isaiáh confirmeth that the Israelites shulde be led into perpetual captiuitie, & thing came to passe within ewentie yere after that Isaiáh did this message.

For the confirmation of this thing, that thine enemies shalbe destroyed & thou preserved.

Not to beleue Gods worde without asigne is to tempt God: but to refuse a signe whē God offereth it for ^y aide & helpe of our infirmities, is to rebel against him.

You thinke you haue to do wth men, whē ye contemne Gods messengers: but it is God, against whome you bend your felues.

Forasmuche as thou art vnworthy, ^y Lord for his owne promes sake wil giue a signe & shalbe that Christ the Saviour of his Church & the effect of all signes & miracles shalbe reueiled.

Or, God wisheth, which name can agree to no one, but to him, that is both God and man.

Meanig, that Christ is not onely God, but man also, because he shal be nourished as other men, vntil ^f age of discretiō. ^o Not meanig Christ, but anie childe: for before a childe can come to the yeres of discretiō, the Kings of Samaria and Syria shal be destroyed. ^p Since the time that the twelve tribes rebelled vnder Roboám. ^q In whome thou hast put thy trust. ^r Meaning, the Egyptians: for by reason the countrie is hote and moiste, it is ful of flies, as Agyptia is ful of bees.

His glorie doeth not onely appear in ^y heuens, but through all ^y worlde, and therefore all creatures are bounde to praise him.

Which things were to confirme the Prophet, that it was not the voyce of man: and by the smoke was signified the blindnesses ^y shulde come vpon the Iewes.

He speaketh this for two causes: ¹ one, because he ^y was a mortal creature, and therefore had more neede to glorifie God then the Angels, did not: and the other, because ^y more nere ^y man approacheth to God, the more doeth he knowe his owne sinne, & corruption.

Of ^y burnt offerings where the fyre neuer went out.

This declarereth that man can not rendre true obedience to God, til he haue purged vs.

Whereby is declared that for the malice of man God wil not immediatly take away his worde, but he wil cause it to be preached to their condemnation, when as they wil not learne thereby to obey his wil, and be saued: hereby he exhortereth the ministers to do their duetie, and answereth to the wicked murmurers, that through their owne malice their heart is hardened.

Mat. 23. 14. & 28. 26. rom. 11. 8. ^p As he was moued with the zeale of Gods glorie, so was he touched with a charitable affeccion toward the people.

Meaning, the tenth parte: or as some write, it was reueiled to Isaiáh for the confirmation of his prophecies, that ten Kings shulde come before their captiuitie, as were from Vzziah to Zedekiah.

For the fewenes they shal seme to be eaten vp: yet they shal after flourish as a tre, which in winter loseth his leaues, and semeth to be dead, yet in Tommer is fresh, and grene.

Or, Syria. To wit, the seconde time: for in the first battell Aház was ouercome.

Meaning, ^y Kings house. That is, Israël, because ^y tribe was the greater.
