

such matters as he is to be charged withal, her Majestie's pleasure being such.

18^o Maij, 1591.

At Theobaldes.

The defence of the West.

A letter to Mr. Carie of Cokingstone (sic). Whereas her Majesty is given to understand of somme shippes of the King of Spaine's that have bin seene in the Westernne coastes, having some intent and purpose (as yt should seeme) to make some incursions and spoiles one some part of the realme, to which end her Majestie hath alreadie given direction to her Liutenantes of the maritime counties to see the forces of those counties in a readines to withstand the attemptes and violences as may be put in practise by theemie. Forasmuch as you are Deputie Lieutenant of that countie of Devon to our vearie good Lord the Earle of Bath, her Highnes' pleasure is that you shal presentlie make your repaire thither to be there resident for the better government of the countie and accomplishment of such directions as you shall receive from hence, for the better accomplishment of her Majesty's service and defence of the said countie as occasion shal require.

A letter of the like tenour to Sir William Courtney.

The expedition to France.

A letter to Sir John Norreis. Forasmuch as yt is likelie that the bandes and companies under your charge may diminish and lessen in number, to th'end her Majesty may not be charged to make farther allowance then for the just number of men that from time to time shal happen to be in everie band, and as they shall be found to be ful and furnished, these shalbe therefore to require you from henceforth to cause your warrantes to be directed to the Treasurer's deputie with true certificate of the just number of so manie men as shal from time to time be found in everie bond (sic), that they may receive their weekly imprestes and lendings according for the number of men that shalbe in every bonde.