

The lyke letter was written to Sir Roger Williams.

A letter to the Earle of Darbie. Whereas we wrott unto your Lordship about two yeares sithence to take order that yf ther should happen at any tyme occasion by soche attempt as the Kinge of Spaine might make uppon the Isle of Anglesey, uppon notice thereof geven you from our verie good Lord the Earle of Pembrock the forces which are of the trained bandes in the countie of Chester should be sent hether. Because there hath ben some discovery of certeine Spanishe forces and shipping one the seas, and it is to be doubted what course they maie take to annoy her Majestie, and theirfore Sir Richard Buckley, knight, being Deputie Lieutenant there, ys sent downe to have charge of that Isle, we have thought good to praie your Lordship to have care yf occasion shall so require by anie attempt the enemy maie make on that Isle that the force of that countie shalbe demaunded by the Lord Lieutenante or his deputie to repaire theire, that in that case your Lordship shall cause the same presently to be sent [t]hether, according to our former direction, for the saveguard and defence of that coast and repulse of the enemy.

A letter to the Earle of Pembrock. Whereas about two yeares sithence we gave order and direction to your Lordship that the forces of the counties of Salopp, Mountgomrie, Flint, Denbighe, Carnarvan and Merioneth should be directed to repaire to the Isle of Anglesey uppon occasion of invacion or such attempt as the enemy might happen to make in those partes, because at this present there is advertisment brought to her Majestie that the Spanishe forces have ben discovered on the Westernne coast, and it is uncertaine what course they maie take to annoy her Majestie, and theirfore Sir Richard Buckley, knight, being your Lordship's Deputy Lieutenant for the said counties (sic), is sent downe by expresse order from her Majestie to have charge of that Isle. We have thought good to praie your Lordship to geve speciall order that the forces of the said counties maie not onlie be in a readines, but that straight
