

alone, whether it be ore, asse, or sheepe, he shall restore double.

- 5 If a man do hurt fælde or vineyarde, and put in his beast to feede in another mans fælde: of the best of his owne fælde, and of the best of his owne vineyarde, shall he make restitution.

- 6 If fire breake out and catche in the thornes and the stacks of corne, or the standyng corne, or fælde be consumed therewith: he that kyndeled the fyre, shall make restitution.

- 7 If a man deliuer his neyghbour money or stuffe to kepe, and it be stolen out of his house: if the theefe be founde, let hym pay double:

- 8 And if the theefe be not founde, then the good man of y^e house shalbe brought vnto the Judges, that it may be knowen whether he haue put his hande vnto his neyghbours good.

- 9 And in al maner of trespassse, whether it be for ore, asse, or sheepe, rayment, or any maner of lost thing, which another chalengeth to be his: the cause of both parties shall come before the Judges, and whom the Judges condemne, let him pay double vnto his neyghbour.

- 10 If a man deliuer vnto his neyghbour to kepe, asse, ore, sheepe, or whatsoeuer beast it be: and it dye, or be hurt, or taken away by enemies, & no man see it:

- 11 Then shall an oth of the Lorde be betwene them, that he hath not put his hande vnto his neyghbours good: and the owner of it shall take the oth, and the other shall not make it good.

- 12 And if it be stolen from hym, then he shall make restitution vnto the owner therof. If it be torne in peeces, then let him bryng recorde of the tearing, and he shall not make it good.

- 13 And if a man borowe ought of his neyghbour, and it be hurt, or els dye, and the owner therof be not by: he shall surely make it good.

- 14 But if the owner therof be by, he shall not make it good: if it be an hired thing, it came for his hire.

sent, he can loke to his owne good: but in his absence he trusteth to the borrower, that maner tymes doeth abuse hym.

- 15 If a man entice a mayde that is not betrothed, and lye with her, he shall endowe her, and take her to his wyfe.

- 16 And if her father refuse to geue her vnto him, he shal pay money, according to the dowrie of virgins.

- 17 Thou shalt not suffer a witch to lye.

- 18 Whosoener lyeth with a beast, shall be slayne for it.

- 19 He that offereth vnto any gods, saue vnto y^e Lord only, he shalbe killed.

- 20 There not a straunger, neither oppresse him: for ye were straungers in the land of Egypt.

- 21 He shall trouble no wydowe nor fatherlesse chyld.

- 22 If ye shall euill entreate them, and they crye out vnto me, I wyll surely heare theyr crye.

- 23 And then wyl my wrath waxe hotte, and I wyll kyll you with the sworde, & your wyues shalbe widowes, and your chyldren fatherlesse.

- 24 If thou lende money to any of my people that is poore by thee, thou shalt not be as a tiraunt vnto him, neither shalt thou lay vpon him vsurie.

- 25 If thou take thy neyghbours rayment to pledge, thou shalt deliuer it vnto him by that the sunne go downe.

- 26 For that is his couering only, euen the rayment for his skynne, wherein he slepeth: and when he cryeth vnto me, I wyll heare him, for I am mercyfull.

- 27 Thou shalt not rayle vpon y^e gods, neither blasphemie y^e ruler of the people.

- 28 Thy frutes, whether they be drie or moyst, see thou kepe the not backe: thy first borne sonne thou shalt geue me.

- 29 Likewise also shalt thou do with thine oren, and with thy sheepe: seven dayes it shalbe with the damme, & the eyght day thou shalt geue it me.

- 30 Ye shalbe an holy people vnto me, neither shall ye eate any fleshe that is torne of beastes in the fælde, but shall cast it to a dogge.

and euil speaking, both for auoyding disorder, and considering whose person he respecteth. (p) By this ceremonie they were taught, that all thinges, the beuies, the prophane otherwyse, ought to be halowed, & offered vnto God, as the generall of all that we haue. Now this ceremonie being taken away, yet this lawe must be kept our partes, in offering and geuyng to Gods iuclyp image the poore. (q) As the which was ceremoniall, and for a tyme, they were taught howe farre they ought to be from an heathenisse and prophane conuersation.

(c) If ought be lost by fire negligent, he is to be made good.

(d) That is, whether he haue stolen it.

(e) That is, whether he haue stolen it.

(f) Before he take of thynge, he must be left in one place, now of thynge that beare lyfe.

(g) Because of fallshod to pretend stealing, it would not serue in this case, and it was rather decreed touching luyng thynge, then thynge, because, for that y^e more part of the goodes standyng in cattell, they were compelled oftentimes to commit them one to another keeping. (h) For y^e owner be p^rsent, he can loke to his owne good: but in his absence he trusteth to the borrower, that maner tymes doeth abuse hym.

(h) The was a lawe, that if a man had a wife, and she was taken by a stranger, he was to be killed. (i) The lawe was, that if a man had a wife, and she was taken by a stranger, he was to be killed. (j) The lawe was, that if a man had a wife, and she was taken by a stranger, he was to be killed. (k) The lawe was, that if a man had a wife, and she was taken by a stranger, he was to be killed. (l) The lawe was, that if a man had a wife, and she was taken by a stranger, he was to be killed. (m) The lawe was, that if a man had a wife, and she was taken by a stranger, he was to be killed. (n) The lawe was, that if a man had a wife, and she was taken by a stranger, he was to be killed. (o) The lawe was, that if a man had a wife, and she was taken by a stranger, he was to be killed. (p) The lawe was, that if a man had a wife, and she was taken by a stranger, he was to be killed. (q) The lawe was, that if a man had a wife, and she was taken by a stranger, he was to be killed. (r) The lawe was, that if a man had a wife, and she was taken by a stranger, he was to be killed. (s) The lawe was, that if a man had a wife, and she was taken by a stranger, he was to be killed. (t) The lawe was, that if a man had a wife, and she was taken by a stranger, he was to be killed. (u) The lawe was, that if a man had a wife, and she was taken by a stranger, he was to be killed. (v) The lawe was, that if a man had a wife, and she was taken by a stranger, he was to be killed. (w) The lawe was, that if a man had a wife, and she was taken by a stranger, he was to be killed. (x) The lawe was, that if a man had a wife, and she was taken by a stranger, he was to be killed. (y) The lawe was, that if a man had a wife, and she was taken by a stranger, he was to be killed. (z) The lawe was, that if a man had a wife, and she was taken by a stranger, he was to be killed.