The lords of parliament are properly de magno concilio regis, but neither these, being not of the kings privy councill, nor any of the rest of the judges or barons of the exchequer are standing judges of this court.

The name of this court.

[66]

It is now, and of ancient time hath been called the chamber of the ^d stars, the ^e star-chamber, the ^f starred chamber, in respect the roof of the court is garnished with golden stars. Some have imagined that it should be called the star-chamber, because crimina stellionat are there handled: others of this Saxon word stæran, to steer or rule as doth the pilot, because this court doth steer and govern the ship of the common-wealth. Others, because it is full of windows: but the true cause of the name is, because, as is aforesaid, the roof is starred. In all records in Latin, it is called camera stellata.

Officers of the court sworn.

In this court there is the clerk of the councill, which is an office of great account, and trust, for he is to receive, endorfe, enter, keep, and certifie the bills, pleadings, records, orders, rules, sentences and decrees of the court: and I find that in former times men of great account have had that office in this court: as to give you a little taste thereof: king H. 6. by his letters patents, 15 July anno regni sui 22. granted the same to Thomas Kent doctor of the law for his life, calling him clericum concilii nostri, and soon after swore him of his privy councill. King H. 7. anno 1. of his reign, granted the same office to John Bladefwell doctor of laws for term of his life: but hereof this little taste shall suffice.

Lastly, it remaineth to be seen what jurisdiction this court hath in punishment, and where, and in what cases this court may inflict punishment by pillory, papers, whipping, losse of ears, tacking of ears, stigmata in the face, &c. (For it extendeth not to any offence that concerns the life of man or obtruncation of any member, the ears only excepted, and those rarely and in most hainous and detestable offences.) But herein the surest rule is, that seeing it is an ancient court, the presidents of the court are to be followed, and the rather for that the court consisteth of such learned and honourable judges. And novelties without warrant of presidents are not to be allowed: generally some certain rules are to be followed, especially where no presidents are extant in the case. * Quod arbitrio iudicis relinquitur, non facile trahit ad effusionem sanguinis: for generall acts of parliament which inflict punishment, viz. sur for-seiture de corps et de avoir, &c. these are expounded not to extend to life, or member, but to imprisonment, &c.
