

thou remytte it. * There shall be no begger amonge you: for the LORD shall blesse y in the lode which the LORD y God shall geue y to inheritaunce to take it in possession, one ly y thou herke vnto the voyce of the LORD y God, z kepe all these commaundementes which I comaunde the this daye, that thou maiest do thereafter. For the LORD y God shall blesse the, as he hath promysed the. The shalt thou lende vnto many nacions, z shalt borowe of noman. Thou shalt raigne ouer many nacions, z noman shall reigne ouer y.

Whan one of thy brethren is waxed poore in any cite within thy londe, which y LORD y God shall geue y, thou shalt not harden thine hert, ner withdrawe thine hande from thy poore brother: but shalt open thine hande vnto him, and lende him, acordinge as he hath nede.

Beware, that there be not a poynte of Belial in thine hert, that thou woldest saye: The seuenth yeare, the yeare of freedome is at honde. For yf thou lokest not freedly vpo thy poore brother, and geuest him nothinge then shall he crye ouer the vnto the LORD, and it shall be synne vnto the. But thou shalt geue him, and let it not greue thine hert that thou geuest him. For because of it, shall the LORD thy God blesse the in all thy workes, and in all that thou puttest thine hande vnto. The londe shall neuer be without poore, therfore comaunde I the and saye, that thou open thine hande vnto thy brother, which is neady and poore in thy londe.

If thy brother an Hebrue or Hebruesse be solde vnto the, he shall serue the sixe yeare, in the seuenth yeare shalt thou let him go fre. And whā thou deliverest him fre, thou shalt not let him go from the empye, but shalt geue him of thy shepe, of thy corn, and of y wyne, so that thou geue him of that, which the LORD thy God hath blessed the with all. And remembre that thou also wast a seruante in the lode of Egipte, and how that the LORD thy God deliuered the, therfore comaunde I the this thinge to daye.

But yf he saye vnto the: I wyll not go out awaye from the, for I loue y and thine house (in so moch as he is well at ease with the) then take a borowyn, and bore him thow his eare to the doore, and let him be thy seruante for ever. And with thy mayde shalt thou do likewise. And let it not seme greuous vnto the, to let him go fre from the (for he hath serued the sixe yeares as a dubble byred seruante) then shall the LORD thy God blesse the in all that thou doest.

All the first borne that come of thine oxen and shepe, y are males, shalt thou halowe vnto the LORD thy God. Thou shalt not plowe with the first borne of thine oxen, and shalt not clyppe the first borne of thy shepe: Before the LORD thy God shalt thou eate the enery yeare, in the place that the LORD thy God hath chosen, thou and thine householde.

But yf it haue a deformyte, so that it is lame or blynde, or hath eny other euell blemish, thou shalt not offre it vnto y LORD thy God, but shalt eate it within thine awne gates: whether thou be vncleane or cleane, xuen as the Roos and Hert. Onely se that thou eate not of the blonde therof, but poure it out as water vpon the grounde.

The XVI. Chapter.

Where the moneth Abib, y thou offerest Easter vnto the LORD y God: for in the moneth Abib the LORD thy God broughte y out of Egipte by night. And for the Easter vnto y LORD thy God, thou shalt offer oxen z shepe, in y place which y LORD shall chose, y his name maye dwell there. Thou shalt eate no leuened bred in y feast. Seven dayes shalt thou eate the vlenuded bred of thy tribulacion: For with sorowfull haist camest thou out of the londe of Egipte, that thou mayest remembre the daye of thy departinge out of y londe of Egipte, all y life longe. In seue dayes shall there no leuened bred be seme within all thy coastes: z of the flesh that is offred y first daye at euen, there shall nothinge be lefte ouer night vntill the mornynge.

Thou mayest not offer Easter w in eny of thy gates, which the LORD thy God hath genen the: but in the place which the LORD thy God hath chosen, that his name maye dwell there, there shalt thou offer this Easter, at euen whan the Sonne is gone downe, euen in the same season that thou camest out of Egipte: and thou shalt dighe it, and eate it in the place that the LORD thy God hath chosen, and then turne the on the morowe, z go home in to thy tente. Sixe dayes shalt thou eate vlenuded bred, and on the seuenth daye is the gatheringe together of the LORD thy God. Thou shalt do no worke therein.

Seven weekes shalt thou nombre vnto y, and begynne to nombre whan the syckle be gynneth in the come, and thou shalt kepe the. Feast of weekes vnto the LORD thy God, that thou geue a freewill offeringe of thine hande, acordinge as the LORD thy God hath blessed the, and shalt reioyse before the LORD thy God, thou and thy sonne, thy daughter, thy seruante, thy mayde, and the Leuite that is within thy gates, y stranger, the fatherlesse, and the wedowe, that are amonge you, in the place which y LORD thy God hath chosen, that his name maye dwell there. And remembre, y thou wast a seruante in Egipte, so that thou kepe and do these ordynaunces.

The feast of Tabernacles shalt thou kepe seuen dayes, whan thou hast gathered in the frutes of thy barne z of thy wyne presse, and thou shalt reioyse in thy feast, thou and thy sonne, thy daughter, thy seruante, thy mayde, the Leuite, the stranger, the fatherlesse, and the wedowe that are within y gates. Seven dayes shalt thou kepe y feast vnto the LORD thy God, in the place that he hath chosen. For the LORD thy God shall blesse the in all thy frutes and in all the workes of thine handes. Therfore shalt thou be glad.

The tymes in the yeare shall all thy males appeare before the LORD thy God (in the place that he shall chose) namely, in the feast of vlenuded bred, in the feast of weekes, and in the feast of Tabernacles. He shall not appeare emptye before the LORD, but every one after the gifte of his hande, acordinge to the blessinge that the LORD thy God hath geuen the.

The XVII. Chapter.

Judges z officers shalt thou ordeyne within all y gates, which y LORD thy God geueth the amonge thy tribes, y they maye iudge the people with righteous indgment. Thou shalt not wrest the lawe. Thou shalt knowe no personne also, ner take giftes. For giftes blynde the eyes of y wyse, z peruerter y righteous causes. Lo ke what righte is, y shalt thou folowe, that thou mayest lye z possesse the londe, which the LORD thy God shall geue the.

Thou shalt plante no grove (of what so ever trees it be) nye vnto the altare of the LORD thy God, which thou makest the. Thou shalt set the vp no pilier, which y LORD y God hateth. Thou shalt offer vnto the LORD thy God no ore or shepe, that hath a blemish or eny euell fauourednesse on it: for that is abhominacion vnto the LORD thy God.

If there be founde amonge you (within eny of thy gates which the LORD y God shall geue y) a man or woman, that worketh wickednesse in y sighte of the LORD thy God, so that he transgresseth his conuenance and goeth, and serueth other goddes, z worshippeth them, whether it be Sone or Moire, or eny of the hocste of heauen, which I haue not commaunded, and it is tolde the, z thou hearest of it, Then shalt thou make diligent search therfore. And yf thou fyndest that it is so of a truthe, that soch abhominacion is wroughte in Israel, then shalt thou brynge forth the same man or y same womā (which haue done soch euell) vnto thy gates and shalt stone them to death. At the mouth of two or thre witnesses shall he dye, that is worthy of death. At the mouth of one witness shall he not dye. The handes of the witnesses shall be the first to kyll him, and the y handes of all the people, that thou mayest put awaye the euell from the.

If a matter be to harde for the in iudgment betwixte blonde and blonde, betwixte plee and plee, betwixte stroke and stroke, and yf there be matters of stryfe within thy gates: then shalt thou ryse, and go vp vnto y place that y LORD thy God hath chosen: and shalt come to the prestes the Levites, z to the iudge which shall be at that tyme, and shalt axe. They shall shewe the how to iudge, and thou shalt do thereafter, as they saye vnto the, in y place which the LORD hath chosen: and thou shalt take heed that thou do acordinge vnto all y they teach the. Acordinge to the lawe y they teach the, z after the iudgment that they tell y, shalt thou do: so that thou turne not asyde from y same, nerther to the righte hande ner to the left.

And yf eny man deale presumptuously, so that he herkeneth not vnto the prest (which stonderth to do seruyce vnto the LORD thy God) or to the Judge, the same shall dye: and thou shalt put awaye the euell from Israel, that all y people maye heare, and feare, and be nomore presumptuous.

Whan thou art come in to y londe which the LORD thy God shall geue the, z takest it in possession, and dwellest therein, and shalt saie: I wil set a Kinge ouer me, as all the nacions haue aboute me, the shalt thou set him to be Kinge ouer the, whom the LORD thy God shall chose.

One of thy brethren shalt thou sette to be Kinge ouer the. Thou mayest not set a stranger ouer the, which is not thy brother. Onely let him not haue many hoyses, y he brynge not y people againe in to Egipte thow y multitude of hoyses, for as moch as y LORD hath sayde vnto you, that from hence forth ye shulde come nomore this waye agayne.
