

The Prophet
sheweth that if princes and Iudges do not their duction,
God, whose au-
thoritie is aboue them, will take vengeance
on them.

For theues
and murderers finde fauour in Iudgement, where the cause of God can not be heard.

Not onely
whe they crye for helpe, but whe their cause
requireth
aide & support.

That is, all things are out of ordre, either
by their tyrā-
nie or careless negligence.

No title of honour shall excuse you, but you shall be sub-
iect to Gods Iudgement, and
reder a compt
at well as other men.

Therefore no
tyrant shall plucke thy right & auto-
ritie fro thee.

Psalm LXXXIII.
This Psalm
seemeth to haue bene copo-
sed, as a forme
of praier against the dangers that the Church was in
in the daies of Iulianus.

He calleth
them Gods enemies, & are enemies to his Church.

The elect of God are his secret ones: for he hideth the
in the secret
of his taberna-
cle, & preser-
ueth them fro
all dangers.

They were not content to take the Church
as prisoner,
but sought vi-terly to destroy it.

By all secret
meanes.

They thought to haue subuer-
ted thy counsel, wherein is perpetuall of the Church was established.

The wicked
nes of the Am-monites & Mo-
abites is described, in y they provoked these other nation
to fight against the Israelites
their brethren.

By these examples, they were confirmed that God wolde not suffer his people to be utterly destroyed, Iudg. 7. 21 and 4. 15.

Troden vnder fere as myre. * Iud. 7. 25. 8. 21.

That is, Iudges: for where
the Church is, there dwelleth he among them.

litie, & And exhorteth them to do iustice. & But seeing none amendment, & He desireth God to undertake the matter & execute iustice him self.

A Psalm committed to Asaph.

God standeth in the assemblie of gods: he iudgeth among gods.

How long wil ye iudge vniustly, and accept the persones of the wicked? Selah.

Do right to the poore and fatherles: do iustice to the poore and nedie.

Deliver the poore and nedie: saue them from the hand of the wicked.

They knowe not & vnderstand nothing:
they walke in darknes, albeit all the fun-dacions of the earth be moued.

I haue said, Ye are gods, and ye all are children of the most High.

But ye shall dye as a man, & ye princes, shall fall like others.

O God, arise, therefore iudge thou the earth: for thou shalt inherite all nations.

PSAL. LXXXIII.

The people of Israel praie vnto the Lord to deliuer them from their enemies bothe at home and farre off, which imagined nothing but their destruction. & And they desire that all suche wicked people maie, according as God was accustomed, be stricken with the stormie tempest of Gods wrath, as that they maie knowe that the Lord is moste high vpon the earth.

A song, or Psalm committed to Asaph.

Kepe not thou silence, O God: be not still and cease not, O God.

For lo, thine enemies make a tumult: & they hate thee, haue lifted vp the head.

They haue taken craftie counsel against thy people, and haue consulted against thy secret ones.

They haue said, Come and let vs cut them off from being a nation: and let the name of Israel be no more in remembrance.

For they haue consulted together in heart, & haue made a league against thee:

The tabernacles of Edom, & the Ishmae-lites, Moab and the Agarims:

Gebal and Ammon, and Amalech, the Philistims with the inhabitants of Tyrus:

Ashur also is ioyned with them: they haue bene an arme to the children of Lot.
Selah.

Do thou to them as vnto the Midiani-tes: as to Sisera & as to Iabin at the riu-er of Kishon.

They perished at En-dor, & were don-gue for the earth.

Make them, even their princes like Orab and like Zeeb: yea, all their princes like Zebah and like Zalmunah.

Which haue said, Let vs take for our possession the habitations of God.

By these examples, they were confirmed that God wolde
not suffer his people to be utterly destroyed, Iudg. 7. 21 and 4. 15.

Troden vnder fere as myre. * Iud. 7. 25. 8. 21.

That is, Iudges: for where
the Church is, there dwelleth he among them.

O my God, make them like vnto a whele, & as the stubble before the winde.

As the fyer burneth the forest, and as the flame setteth the mountaines on fyre:

So persecute them with thy tempest, and make them afraid with thy storme.

Fill their faces with shame, that they maie seeke thy Name, O Lord.

Let them be confounded and troubled for euer: yea, let them be put to shame and perish,

That they maie knowe that thou, which art called Iehouah, art alone, even the mo-ste High ouer all the earth.

PSAL. LXXXIII.

David driven forth of his countrey, & Desireth moste ardently to come againe to the Tabernacle of the Lord & the assemblie of the Saints to praise God. & Promuning them blessed that maie so do. & Then he praiseth the courage of the people, that passe through the wil-dernes to assemblie them selues in Zion. & Finally with praise of this matter & confidence of Gods goodnes he endeth the Psalm.

To him that excelleth vpon Gittith. A Psalm committed to the sonnes of Korah.

O Lord of hostes, how amiable are thy Tabernacles!

My soule longeth, yea, & fainteth for the courtes of the Lord: for mine heart and my flesh reioyce in the liuing God.

Yea, the sparowe hath founde her an house, and the swallowe a nest for her, where she maie lay her yong: even by thine altars, O Lord of hostes, my King and my God.

Blessed are they that dwell in thine house: they wil euer praise thee. Selah.

Blessed is the man, whose strength is in thee, & in whose heart are thy waies.

They going through the vale of Baca, make welles therein: the raine also coue-reth the pooles.

They go from strength to strength, til euery one appeare before God in Zion.

O Lord God of hostes, heare my praier: hearken, O God of Iacob. Selah.

Beholde, O God, our shield, & loke vpon the face of thine Anointed.

For a daie in thy courtes is better than a thousand other where: I had rather be a dorekeeper in the House of my God, then to dwell in the tabernacles of wickednes.

For the Lord God is the sunne & shield vnto vs: the Lord wil giue grace & glorie, & no good thing wil he withhold from them that walke vprightly.

O Lord of hostes, blessed is the man that trusteth in thee.

PSAL. LXXXV.

Because God withdrew not his rods from his Church after their returne from Babylon, first they put him in minde of their deliuerance, to the intent that he shoulde not leaue the works of his grace vnperfite. & Next they Sli.

I Because the reprobates
by no meanes be amended, he praith y they maie utterly
be destroyed,
be vnto the led with all
windes.
m That is, be compelled by thy plagues to conesse thy power.
n Though they
belue not, yet
they maie pro-
ue by experie-ce, that it is in vaine to resist
against thy counsel in establishing thy Church.

David complaineth y he can not haue access to the Church of God
to make profession of his faith & to profit in religion.
b For none
but the priests colde enter in to the Sana-
rie, & the rest of the people
into the sour-
tes.

c So that the
poore birdes
haue more liberty then I.
d Who trusteth
nothing in himself, but in thee onely, & learneth of thee to rule
his life.

e That is, of miserietrees
which was a
baren place:
so that they
which passed through, must dig pits for water: signifying y no les-can hinder the
that are fully bent to come to Christs
Church, nether yet that God wil tuer
faile them.

f They are ne-
uer wearie, but increase in strength & courage til they come to Gods
House.

g That is, for Christs sake,
whose figure I
represent.
h He wolde
wish to liue
but one daie
rather in Gods Church, then
a thousand among y wor-
ldlings.

i But wil from time to time increase his blessings towards his more and more.
