

Majesty hath failed of the redemption he desired, but hath met with another kind of redemption from him which he little expected ; for as to the reports, after three months' time and consideration, he hath offered his Majesty only five animadversions, being rather a scorn than a satisfaction to his Majesty ; whereof one was, that in the prince's case he hath found out the French statute, which was Fitz-Aisné, whereas the Latin was Primogenitus ; and so the Prince is Duke of Cornwall in French, and not Duke of Cornwall in Latin ; and another was, that he had sent Montagu to be Chief Justice, in Henry the Eighth's time, when it should have been in Edward the Sixth's, and such other stuff ; not falling upon any of those things which he could not but know were offensive.

“ That hereupon his Majesty thought good to refresh his memory, and out of many cases, which his Majesty caused to be collated, to require his answer to five, being all such as were expatiations of his own, and no judgments ; whereunto he returned such an answer as did neither justify himself or elude the matter ; so, as his Majesty seeth plainly, antiquum obtinet.”

On the seventeenth of October the Lord Chancellor, with the Attorney-General Bacon, and others of the Council, summoned Sir Ed-