

the King to his very Face ; for it is laid to be done in his own Presence : In the next place, they are not prosecuted for any Nonfeasance, or not doing or omitting to do any thing, but as they are Actors, for censuring of his Majesty and his Government, and for giving their Opinion in Matters wholly relating to Law and Government ; and I cannot omit here to take notice, that there is not any one thing, which the Law is more jealous of, or does more carefully provide for the Prevention and Punishment of, than all Accusations and Arraignments of the Government : No Man is allowed to accuse even the most inferior Magistrate of any Misbehaviour in his Office, unless it be in a legal Course, though the Fact is true ; no Man may say of a Justice of Peace to his face, that he is unjust in his Office ; no Man may come to a Judge, either by Word or Petition, You have given an unjust, or an ill Judgment, and I will not obey it, it is against the Rules and Law of the Kingdom, or the like ; no Man may say of the great Men of the Nation, much less of the great Officers of the Kingdom, that they do act unreasonably or unjustly, or the like ; least of all may any Man say any such thing of the King, for these Matters tend to possess the People, that the Government is ill administr'd, and the Consequence of that is, to set them upon desiring a Reformation, and what that tends to, and will end in, we have all had a sad and too dear bought Experience ; the last Age will abundantly satisfy us, whither such a Thing does tend ;
