

Ecclesiasticus.

that hath vnderstanding, nether is it conuenient to magnifie the riche that is a wicked man.

25 The great man and the iudge & the man of autoritie, are honorable, yet is there none of them greater, then he that feareth the Lord.

Prou. 17. 2. 26 *Vnto the seruant that is wise, shal they that are free, do seruice: *he y hathe knowledge, wil not grudge whē he is reformed, [2 Sam. 12. 13. & the ignorant shal not come to honor.]

27 Sekē not excuses when thou shuldest do thy worke, nether be ashamed thereof through pride in the time of aduersitie.

Prou. 12. 9. 28 *Better is he that laboreth & hathe plenteousnes of all things, then he that is gorgeous, and wanteth bread.

29 My sonne, get thy self praise by mekenes, and esteeme thy self as thou deseruest.

30 Who wil counte him iust that sinneth against him self, or honour him, that dishonoreth his owne soule?

31 The poore is honored for his knowledge [and his feare,] but the riche is had in reputacion because of his goods.

32 He that is honorable in pouertie, how muche more shal he be when he is riche? & he that is vn honest beig riche, how muche more wil he be so when he is in pouertie?

CHAP. XI.

1 The praise of humilitie. 2 After the outward appearance ought we not to iudge. 7 Of rash iudgement. 14 All things come of God. 29 All men are not to be brought into thine house.

Gen. 41. 40. 1 W If some lifteth vp y head of him that is lowe, and maketh him to sit among great men. dan. 6. 3.

2 Commend not a man for his beautie, nether despise a man in his viter appearance.

3 The bee is but smal among the foules, yet doeth her frute passe in sweetenes.

Act. 12. 2. 4 Be not proude of clothing & raimēt, * & exalte not thy self in the day of honour: for the workes of the Lord are wōderful, [and glorious,] secret, [and vnknown] are his workes among men.

5 Many tyrāts haue sit downe vpon y earth, * & the vnlikelie hath worne the crowne.

2 Sam. 15. 28. 6 Many mightie men haue bene brought to dishonour, & the honorable haue bene deliuered into other mens hands. esther. 6. 10.

Deu. 13. 14. 7 *Blame [no mā] before thou haue inquired the matter: vnderstand first, and then reforme [righteously,] 17. 6. 18. 7. 22.

Prou. 18. 13. 8 *Giue no sentence, before thou hast heard the cause, nether interrupt men in the middes of their tales.

9 Striue not for a matter that thou hast not to do with, and sit not in the iudgement of sinners.

Mat. 19. 23. 10 My sonne, medle not with many matters: 1 tim. 6. 9. *for if thou gaine muche, thou shalt not be blameles, and if thou follow after it, yet shalt thou not atteine it, nether shalt thou escape, thogh thou flee from it.

11 *There is some man that laboreth and taketh peine, and the more he hasteth, the more he wanteth. Prou. 10. 3.

12 Againe there is some that is slouthful, & *hathe nede of helpe: for he wāteth strēgth, and hathe great pouertie, yet the eye of the Lord loketh vpō him to good, and setteth him vp from his lowe estate, Iob. 42. 18.

13 And he listeth vp his head: so that manie men marueil at him, [& giue honour vnto God.]

14 *Prosperitie & aduersitie, life & death, pouertie and riches come of the Lord. Iob. 14. 18. 25. 28. 4.

15 Wisdome & knowledge, and vnderstanding of the Lawe are of the Lord: loue & good workes come of him.

16 Errour and darckenes are appointed for sinners, and they that exalte them selues in euil, waxe olde in euil.

17 The gift of the Lord remaineth for the godlie, & his good wil giueth prosperitie for euer.

18 ¶ Some man is riche by his care and nigardship, & this is y porcion of his wages,

19 In that he saith, *I haue gotten rest, and now wil I eat continually of my goods, yet he considereth not, y the time draweth nere, that he must leaue all these things vn to other men, and dye him self. Luk. 12. 33.

20 Stand thou in thy state, and exercise thy self therein, and remaine in thy worke vnto thine age.

21 Marueil not at the workes of sinners, but trust in the Lord, and abide in thy labour: for it is an easie thing in the sight of the Lord suddenly to make a poore man riche.

22 The blessing of the Lord is in the wages of the godlie, and he maketh his prosperitie sone to flourish.

23 ¶ Say not, What profite and pleasure shal I haue? and what good things shal I haue hereafter?

24 Againe say not, I haue ynough, & possesse many things, * & what euil can come to me hereafter? Chap. 11. 11.

25 In thy good state remēber aduersitie, & in aduersitie forget not prosperitie.

26 For it is an alie thing vnto the Lord in the day of death to rewarde a man according to his waies.

27 The aduersitie of an houre maketh one to forget pleasure: and in a mans end, his workes are discouered.

28 Iudge none blessed before his death: for a man shal be known by his children.

29 Bring not euerie man into thine house: for the disceitful haue many traines, [and are like stomackes that belche stinkingly.]

30 As a partriche is take vnder a basker, [& the hinde is taken in the snare,] so is the heart of the proude man, which like a spie watcheth
