

Because thou hast done this, thou art cursed aboue all cattel, and aboue euery beast of the fielde: vpon thy belly shalt thou go, and dust shalt thou eate all the dayes of thy lyfe.

15 I wyll also put ⁽¹⁾ enmitie betweene thee & the woman, betweene thy seede and her seede: and ^(m) it shall treade downe thy head, and thou shalt treade vpon his heele.

16 But vnto the woman he sayde: O I wyll very much multiplie thy sorowe, and thy griefes of chyldre bearyng, In sorowe shalt thou bring forth children: thy desire ⁽ⁿ⁾ [shalbe] to thy husbände, and he shall haue the *rule of thee.

17 Vnto Adam he sayde: Because thou hast hearkened vnto ⁽ⁿ⁾ the voyce of thy wyfe, and hast eaten of the tree concerning the whiche I commaunded thee, saying, thou shalt not eate of it, cursed is the grounde for thy sake, in sorowe shalt thou eate of it all the dayes of thy lyfe.

18 Thorne also and thistle shall it bring forth ^(o) to thee, and thou shalt eate the hearbe of the fielde.

19 In the sweatte of thy face shalt thou eate thy breade, tyll thou be turned agayne into the ground, for out of it wast thou taken: For dust thou art, and into dust shalt thou be turned agayne.

20 And Adam called his wyfes ^(p) name Hena, because she was the mother of all lyuyng.

21 Vnto Adam also and to his wyfe dyd the Lorde God ^(q) make garmentes of skynnes, and he put them on.

22 And the Lorde God sayde: Beholde, the man is become as one of vs, ^(r) in knowing good and euyl: And now lest peraduenture he put forth his hande, and take also of the tree of lyfe and eate, and lyue for euer. ^(s)

23 Therefore the Lorde God sent hym forth fro the garden of Eden, to worke the grounde whence he was taken.

24 And so he ^(t) droue out man, and at the east side of the garde of Eden he set Cherubins, and a fierie two edged sworde, to kepe the way of the tree of lyfe.

¶ The. iiij. Chapter.
