

The i. boke of Moses.

The ii. Chap.

hauynge their owne sede in them selues, eue-ry one after his kynde. And God sawe that it was good. Then of the euenynge & mornyng was made the thirde daye.

Psal. 133. a And God sayde: let there be lightes in y firmament of heauen, to deuide the daye fro the night, that they maye be vnto toles, seasons, dayes, and yeres. And let them be lightes in y firmament of heauen, to shyne vpon the earth: And so it came to passe. And God made two great lightes: one greater light to rule the daye, and a lesse light to rule the night, and he made starres also. And God set them in the firmament of heauen, & they might shyne vpon earth, and to rule the daye and the night, and to deuide the lighte from darknes. And God sawe that it was good.
Then of the euenynge and mornynge was made the fourth daye.

4. Ecl. 5. c And God sayde: let the waters brynge forth creatures that moue and haue life, & foules for to flye aboue the earth vnder the firmament of heauen. And God created greate whalles, and all maner of creatures that lyue and moue, which the waters brought forth every one after his kynde: and all maner of feathered foules, every one after his kynde. And God sawe that it was good, and blessed them, sayenge: Growe, and multiplie, and fyll the waters of the sees, and let the foules multiplie vpon the earth. Then of the euenynge and mornynge was made the fifth daye.

And God sayde: let y earth brynge forth lyuynge foules, every one after his kynde: ca-tell, woumes & what as hath life vpon earth, every one after his kynde. And so it came to passe. And God made y beastes of the earth every one after his kynde, and catell after their kynde, and all maner woumes of the earth after their kynde. And God sawe that it was good.

D And God sayde: let vs make man in o^r similitude after oure likenesse, that he maye haue rule ouer the fysh of the see, and ouer the foules vnder y heauen, and ouer catell, and ouer all the earth, and ouer all woumes that crepe on y earth. And God created man after his likenesse: after y likenesse of God created he him, male & female created he them.

Iere. 29. b And God blessed them, and sayde vnto them: Growe, and multiplie, and fyll the earth, and subdue it, & haue domynion ouer the fysh of the see, and ouer the foules of the ayre, and ouer all the beastes that crepe vpon the earth.

Gen. 1. 28 And God sayde: lo, I haue geuen you all maner herbes that beare sede vpon the whole earth, and all maner fructifull trees that beare sede, to be meate for you. And to all beastes of the earth, and to all foules vnder the heauen, and to every wombe that hath life (vpon earth) all maner grene herbes to ea-te. And so it came to passe. And God behel-de all y he had made, and lo, they were exceedinge good. Then of the euenynge and mornyng was made the sixte daye.

The seconde Chapter.
Ihus was heauē and earth fynished with all their hoost, and thus in the seuenth daye God ended his worke, which he had made, & rested in the seuenth daye from all his workes which he had made: And blessed the seuenth daye, & sanctified it, because y in it he rested from all his wor-kes, which God created and made.

These are the generacions of heauē and earth whan they were created, in the tyme whan the LORDE God made heauen and earth: before there was eny trovygg vpon earth, and oz er there grew eny grene her-be vpon the selde. For the LORDE God had yet sent no rayne vpon y earth, nether was there eny man to tylle the earth. But there arose a myst from the earth, & watered all the londe. And y LORDE God shopen man out of the mould of the earth, & brethed in to his face y breth of life. And so was man made a lyuynge soule.

The LORDE God also planted a garden of pleasure in Eden, towarde y east, and set man therein whom he had made. And the LORDE God caused to sprynge out of the earth all maner trees, pleasaunt to loke vpon, and good to eate: and the tre of life in the myddest of the garden, and the tre of knowlege of good and euell.

And out of Eden there wente a ryuer, to water the garden, and there deuyled it selfe in to foure heade waters. The first is called Phison, which renneth aboute all the londe of Henuyl. And there is founde golde, & the golde of that countre is precious, and there is founde Bedellion, and the precious stone Onix. The second water is called Gihon, which runneth aboute the whole londe of y Moiaas. The thirde water is called Hydectell, which runneth towarde the east syde of y Assiriaas. The fourth water is Euphrates.

And the LORDE God toke man, & set him in the pleasaunt garden of Eden, to dresse it & to kepe it. And the LORDE God commaunded man, sayenge: Thou shalt eate of all maner trees in y garden: But of y tre of know-

The i. boke of Moses.

The iii. Chap. Fo. ii.

lege of good and euell, shalt thou not eate.
For loke in what daye so euer thou eatest therof, thou shalt dye the death.

And the LORDE God sayde: It is not good y mā shulde be alone. I wil make him an helpe, & to beare him cōpany. And whan God the LORDE had made of the earth all maner beastes of the selde, & all maner foules vnder the heauē, he brought them vnto man, to se what he wolde call the: For as mā called all maner of liuinge foules, so are their names. And man gaue names vnto all maner catell, & vnto the foules vnder the heauē, and vnto all maner beastes of y selde. But vnto man there was founde no helpe, to beare him company.

Then the LORDE God caused an herbe slepe to fall vpon man, and he slepte. And he toke out one of his rybbes, and (in steade therof) he filled vp y place with flesh. And the LORDE God made a woman, of y rybbe that he toke out of man, and brought her vnto him. Then sayde man: This is once bone of my bones, and flesh of my flesh. She shalbe called woman, because she was takē of man. For this cause shal a man leaue father and mother, and cleue vnto his wife, & they two shalbe one flesh. And they were both naked, the man and his wife, and were not ashamed.

The iii. Chapter.
In the thirde chapter of the booke of the serpent was sayd: then all the beastes of the selde, which y LOR DE God had made) and sayde vnto the woman: Yee, hath God sayde in dede: Ye shall not eate of all maner trees in the garden: Then sayde the woman vnto the serpent: We eate of the frute of the trees in the garden: But as for the frute of the tre that is in the myddes of the garden, God hath sayde: Eate not ye of it, and touch it not, lest ye dye.

Then saide the serpent vnto the woman: Yush, ye shall not dye the death. For God doth knowe, that in what daye so euer ye ea-te of it, youre eyes shalbe opened, and ye shal be as God, and knowe both good and euell.
And the woman sawe that y tre was good to eate of, and lustye vnto the eyes, and a pleasaunt tre: & to make wyse, and toke of the frute of it, and ate, and gaue vnto hir husbande also therof, and he ate. Then were the eyes of them both opened, and they perceaued that they were naked, and sowed fygge leaues together, and made them apurns.

And they herde the voyce of the L O R-DE God, which walked in the garden in the coole of the daye. And Adam hyd him self with his wyse, from the presence of y LOR-DE God amonge the trees of the garden.
And y LORDE God called Adam, and sayde vnto him: Where art thou? And he saide: I herde thy voyce in the garden, and was afrayed, because I am naked, and therefore I hyd myself. And he sayde: who tolde the, that thou art naked? Hast thou not eaten of the tre, wherof I commaunded the, y thou shuldest not eate?

Then sayde Adam: The woman, which thou gauest me (to beare me comp any) gaue me of the tre, and I ate. And the LORDE God sayde vnto the woman: wherfore hast thou done this? The woman sayde: the serpent diseaued me so, that I ate. Then sayde the LORDE God vnto the serpent: Because thou hast done this, cursed be thou aboue all catell and aboue all beastes of the selde.
Upon thy bely shalt thou go, & earth shalt thou eate all the dayes of thy life. And I wyll put enemyte betwene the and the woman, and betwene y sede and hir sede. The same shal treade downe thy heade, and thou shalt treade him on the hele.

And vnto the woman he sayde: I will increase thy sorrow, whan thou art with childe: with payne shalt thou beare thy childre, and thy lust shal perrayne vnto y husban-de, and he shal rule the.

And vnto Adam he sayde: For so much as thou hast done, thou shalt be cursed thou shalt