

and of every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth.

(h) This Image & likeness of God in man is expounded, where it is written that man was created after God, in righteousness and true holiness, meaning by these two words, all perfection, as immortality, wisdom, such innocence, power, &c.

Heb. hath a living soule.

(a) No more of creatures are to be looked for: yet God still continually governeth and preserveth all things. Ioh. 18. Erod. 20. b. Heb. 4. a. (b) The first day was consecrated to the service of God, for man in his perfect state.

27 So God created man in his (h) owne image, in the image of God created he him, male and female created he them.

28 And God blessed them, and God sayde unto them, Be fruitful, and multiply, and replenish the earth, and subdue it, and have dominion of the fische of the Sea, and foule of the ayre, and of every living thing that moveth upon the earth:

29 And God sayde, Beholde, I have given you every beaste bearyng seede, which is in the upper face of all the earth, and every tree, in the which is the fruite of a tree, bearyng seede, that they may be meate unto you:

30 And of every beast of the earth also, and of every byrde of the ayre, and of every luche thing that creepeth upon the earth, which is of the live, I have given every greene herbe for meate: and it was so.

31 And God sawe every thing that he had made: and behold, it was exceeding good. And the evening and the morning were the sixth day.

2 And the earth was without forme, and void, and darkness was upon the face of the deep: and the spirit of God was brooding upon the face of the waters.

3 And God said, Let there be light: and there was light.

4 And God sawe that the light was good: and God divided the light from the darkness.

5 And God called the light Day, and the darkness he called Night.

6 And there was evening, and there was morning, the first day.

7 And God said, Let there be a firmament in the midst of the waters, and let it divide the waters from the waters.

8 And God made the firmament, and divided the waters which were under the firmament from the waters which were above the firmament: and God called the firmament Heaven.

9 And God said, Let the waters under the firmament be gathered together unto one place, and let the dry land appeare.

10 And God called the dry land Earth, and the gathered together of the waters he called Seas: and God blessed the Earth, and said, Unto the Earth, bring forth living creatures, according to kinde thyne: and the beast of the Earth, and every creeping thing that creepeth upon the Earth, according to kinde thyne.

earth, neither (was there) a man to till the grounde.

6 But there went by a mist from the earth, & watered the whole face of the grounde.

7 The Lord God also did shape man, (euē) (c) dust from of the grounde, and breathed into his noethrilles the breath of life, and man was a living soule.

8 And the Lord God (d) planted a garden eastwarde in Eden, and there he put the man whom he had shapte.

9 And out of the grounde made the Lord God to grow (e) every tree that was saye to sight, and pleasant to cate: The tree of life in the midst of the garden, and the tree of (g) knowledge of good & euill.

10 And out of Eden there went forth a floud to water the garden, and from thence it was diuided, & became into foure heads.

11 The name of the firste is Pison, the same is it that compasseth the whole lande of (h) Babilon, where there is golde:

12 And the golde of the lande is very good. There is also Beellu, & the Onire stone.

13 The name of the second river is Euphrat: the same is it that compasseth the whole lande of (i) Ethiopia.

14 The name of the thirde river is Tigris, and it goeth towarde the East side of Assyria: & the fourth river is Euphrates.

15 And the Lord God toke the man, and put him in the garden of Eden, that he might worke it, and keepe it.

16 And the Lord God (d) commaunded the man, saying, Eating, thou shalt cate of every tree of the garden:

17 But as touching the tree of knowledge of good and euill: thou shalt not cate of it: For in what day thou eatest thereof, thou shalt dye the death.

18 And the Lord God sayde, It is not good that the man should be alone, I will make him an (e) helpe like unto him.

19 And so out of the grounde the Lord God had shapte every beaste of the fild, and every soule of the ayre, and brought it vnto man, that he might see how he shoulde call it: For lykewise as man him selfe named every living thing, euen so was the name thereof.

20 And the man (o) gaue names to al cattel, and foule of the ayre, and every beaste of the fild: but for man founde he not an helpe lyke vnto him.

21 The Lord God caused a deep sleepe to fall vpon Adam, and he slept, and he took one of his ribbes, and closed vp the place with the fle, in steere of it.

22 And the ribbe which the Lord God had
